

DAVID BARRANQUERO

I am a passionate and resilient young person with a strong work ethic, determined to always achieve what I set my mind to. I am a graduate of the University of Wollongong, completing a Bachelor of Performance (Dean's Scholar) with distinction and currently undertaking a Bachelor of Data Science and Analytics. I worked professionally as an actor for three years, working in film, television and theatre, and hence have strong communication and interpersonal skills, as well as a wealth of experience working with individuals from a diverse range of backgrounds. I can manage stressful situations and can improvise if necessary, to solve complex tasks. I'm open and flexible, accepting of direction and constructive feedback, which allows me to work well in a team environment and support my fellow colleagues. I am a highly committed and driven worker, always striving to achieve my goals, and push the boundaries of what I am capable of.
